Learning a Trade.

It was a wise law of the ancient Jews. that the sons of even their wealthiest men should be obliged to serve an apprenticeship to some useful occupation, so, that in case of reverse of fortune, they might have something to "fall back upon." The same still exist in Turkey, where every man, even the Sultan himself, must learn a trade. How fortunate would it be now, had it been a law in this country. "Would to God I had a trade!" is the cry of thousands of returned soldiers, North and South, who find themselves rained in pocket, with no imme- THRESHERS. diate prospect of gaining a livelihood. It should teach parents that whatever else they may give their sons, they should give PLOWS, them a good trade. One of our cotemporaries most truthfully remarks that a popular idea mong our people is, that all of their sons should adopt clerkships, and the adoption of the business of book-keeping as a means of obtaining their livelihood, and every effort is made to give them an education to that end.

So far as the education of their children in the science of keeping proper accounts is concerned, the idea is a good one, as every young man should have a sufficient knowledge to manage his own books, should he ever embark in business, but to make bookkeepers and clerks of all our boys is a grand mistake. Better place them in a workshop, mill, or foundry, where they can learn independent trades, which, at all times, will secure for them employment, and the pecuniary compensation for which will be at least as much, if not more, than the business of accounts. We carnestly advise Western Corn Sheller, 2 sizes, all parents to teach their sons trades, no matter what, so that it is an industrious pursuit; and let us in the future be spared the pain of seeing so many stout, ablebodied young men out of employment, and seeking situations where the pen can only be used .- Exchange.

RECOLLECTIONS OF THE REVOLUTION .-Sally St. Clair was a beautiful, dark-eyed Creole girl. The whole treasury of her love was freely poured out to Sergeant Jasper, who, on one occasion, had the good in st fortune to save her life. The prospect of tail. their separation almost maddened her. To sever her long jetty ringlets from her exquisitely formed head, to dress in male attire, to enroll in the corps to which he belonged and follow his fortunes in the wars unknown to him, was a resolution no sooner conceived than taken. In the camp she attracted no particular attention, except on the night before the battle, when she was noticed bending over his couch like a good and gentle spirit, as if listening to his dreams. The camp was surprised, and a fierce conflict ensued. The lovers were side by side in the thickest of the fight, but endeavoring to turn away a lance aimed at STEEL PLOWS & CULTIVATORS. the heart of Jasper, the poor girl received it in her-own, and fell bleeding at his feet. After the victory, her name and sex were discovered; and there was not a dry eye in the corps when the body of Sally St. Clair was laid in the grave, in a little green shady nook, that looked as if it had been stolen out of Paradise, not far from the river

THE RIGHTS OF EDITORS .- The libel suit of McCabe vs. the proprietor of the N. Y. Sunday Mercury, has been undergoing lengthy trial, and has come to a result thus stated:-The Court held that an editor or Points or Mould-Boards can be had at any reporter is not legally liable to prove the time. absolute truth or accusation which may be embodied in a fair report of proceedings before a legal tribunal, and that it is sufficient justification to show that the facts reported have transpired as narrated. If the decision were otherwise, every conductor of a newspaper could be forced at the will or caprice of a litigant to become the plain-tiff or defendant alluded to in any report which might appear in his journal, the ac-curacy of which might be questioned. The ruling thus decides that an editor is a mere publisher of actual occurrences, and cannot HOUSEKEEPERS' GOODS, possibly assume in law the position of a itigant in cases which he reports, and of the WOODEN WARE, &c., &c., &c. merits of which he must necessarily be HUBS. wholly ignorant.

CRYING AT WEDDINGS .- A recent writer says it is surprising how infectious tears are at a wedding. First of all, the bride cries because she is going to be married; and then, of course, the bridesmaids cry, perhaps because they are not; and the fond mamma cries because she'll loose her d-ddarling; and then the fond papa cries because he thinks it proper; and then all the Horse and Mule Shoes ladies ery, because ladies, as a rule, wil, never miss a chance of crying; and then, perhaps, the groomsmen cry, to keep the Can be furnished cheaper than you can buy ladies company; and then the old pewholder cries, to show what deep pecuniary interest she takes in the proceedings; and then, perhaps, the public cries, the public being, of course, composed exclusively of petticoats. But, notwithstanding all these Niobes, who make quite a Niagara of eye water around him, we own we never yet have seen the bridegroom cry, and should as soon expect to hear the beadle whimper.

THE Avalanche says "persecutions add no strength to government." This proposition is at least dubious. Persecutions are wrong. So-called persecutions may or may Wholesale and Retailnot be wrong, but there is not a government in Europe whose existence don't depend on the persecution of its domestic foes If Maximilian did not persecute the majority of the people of Mexico he would be speedily hurled out. The so-called southern confederacy would not have lasted a month if it had not persecuted.

THE DELEGATES .- A meeting was held here last Saturday to appoint delegates to the Convention on the 22d. We do not recognize in the long list appointed, more Powder, than half a dozen Union men who voted Shot and Caps for Lincoln and Johnson, and nearly every | Pistol Cartridges, one of these partially refuses to take part in the Convention, looking upon it as a

DR. J. FOUCHE, Dentist. FTER AN ABSENCE OF TWO A years, has returned to his old office in Knoxville, greatly improved in facilities and information for the practice of his profession.

HAS THIS DAY EFFECTED AN arrangement by which he will be able in the future to supply all persons who may desire, from a single to a full set of VULCANIZEP RUBBER BASE, Being the latest improvement in our profession, and having been sufficiently tested to warrant its utility, we take pleasure in recommending it as being far preferable in many respects to any other base heretofore used. It can be used in many instances where all other materials fail. No one need, therefore, despair. Call on me, give me your work and I will demonstrate these facts.

Remember that a full set of teeth on this method cost only half what they would on gold, and yet preferable in all respects.
